BTC Assessors & Verifiers

Can you answer yes to these questions?
1. Do you have a wide range of knowledge and experience in your area of testing?
2. Do you have an interest in helping your colleagues to develop to their full potential?
3. Do you want to further your own career by taking on some responsibility for helping others to develop?

Then you should become a BTC Assessor and/or Verifier for your Company.

What is a BTC Assessor?
A BTC Assessor is an experienced person approved by the BTC Technician Training Initiative group. They use their experience to assess the work of Candidates against the requirements of the Awards and to guide those Candidates to successful completion of the Awards.

What does an Assessor do?
The Assessor observes and guides the Candidate as he/she works on the various Modules. Using their knowledge and experience, they review the information provided by the Candidate against the requirements for the various Modules and offers advice where needed.

What is a BTC Verifier?
A BTC Verifier is an Assessor, approved by the BTC Technician Training Initiative group to assess the assessment of Candidates against the requirements of the Awards. The Verifiers role is to guide both the Assessors and Candidates to successful completion of the Awards.

What does a Verifier do?
The Verifier observes and guides the Assessor as he/she Assess the Candidate on the various Modules. Using their knowledge and experience they review the information provided by the Candidate against the requirements for the various Modules. They will offer advice where needed ensuring there is a common standard across the Awards.

What knowledge and experience do I need to become an Assessor and /or Verifier for the BTC Awards?
Assessors and Verifiers are most likely to have significant experience in the areas they are assessing / verifying. In addition to the core engineering skills of the subject, they should also have some knowledge of risk assessments, project management and quality systems.

How do I become an Assessor?
After receiving approval from your Company, complete and submit the Assessor and/or Verifier Registration Form to the BTC Secretariat for review by the BTC TTI Group. When accepted as an Assessor and/or Verifier you will be invited to attend the next Assessor and Verifier Workshop where you will receive instruction and guidance about the roles and responsibilities.

What are the rewards?
As a BTC Assessor and/or Verifier you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you are helping your company and your colleagues to realise their full potential. From a personal point of view you will be taking on some additional responsibility and demonstrating your supervisory capabilities and will improve your own job satisfaction.